A naughty little child, Noodle, and his reluctant companion Missy go to the North Pole to get even with Santa Claus. Noodle wants revenge because Santa put coal in his stockings. (He must have been really bad because he was wearing them at the time!) The kids frame Santa and get him thrown in the North Pole jail. With Santa out of the way, Noodle plans on taking his place and putting coal in the stockings of all the boys and girls in the world. But, in this riotous farce, Santa gets out in time to set things straight and ensure a merry Christmas for one and all!
